

Year 9 was taken on a joint Geography and Biology trip to the Natural History Museum in November 2007. The girls were divided into their science groups and spent half a day studying each subject. Within the Geography element the girls explored the Power Within gallery, plus enjoyed a quick visit to The Earth's Treasury. The girls consolidated work done in class on plate tectonics, experienced a mini Kobe earthquake and decided which precious gem they would take home (if they could!)
